Introduction

Why choose Cambridge Pre-U?

Cambridge Pre-U is designed to equip learners with the skills required to make a success of their studies at university. Schools can choose from a wide range of subjects.

Cambridge Pre-U is built on a core set of educational aims to prepare learners for university admission, and also for success in higher education and beyond:

- to support independent and self-directed learning
- to encourage learners to think laterally, critically and creatively, and to acquire good problem-solving skills
- to promote comprehensive understanding of the subject through depth and rigour.

Cambridge Pre-U Principal Subjects are linear. A candidate must take all the components together at the end of the course in one examination series. Cambridge Pre-U Principal Subjects are assessed at the end of a two-year programme of study.

The Cambridge Pre-U nine-point grade set recognises the full range of learner ability.

Why choose Cambridge Pre-U Mandarin Chinese?

- Cambridge Pre-U Mandarin Chinese equips those learning Mandarin Chinese as a foreign language with the skills to operate in a Chinese environment.
- The majority of Chinese communities speak and understand Mandarin (普通话 putonghua), the official language of the People's Republic of China (PRC). Therefore, this syllabus only requires knowledge of this language. In writing, simplified characters (简体字 jiantizi), again as prescribed in the PRC, are used. For romanisation, the standard pinyin system is adopted.
- The focus of the Listening, Reading and Writing papers is to test contemporary, vernacular Mandarin Chinese.
- Cambridge Pre-U Mandarin Chinese has been specifically designed to meet the needs of foreign language learners. A set of topic areas and, unusually for this level, a core vocabulary underpin the syllabus. In order only to assess candidates' ability to read/write Mandarin Chinese where those are the skills being tested, questions on listening and reading passages are written and answered in English.
- Candidates are encouraged to develop the four skills of speaking, listening, reading and writing. These are supplemented by Chinese-specific skills: accurate identification of roman transliteration (拼音 pinyin), including tones, and the use of a radical-indexed Chinese dictionary.
- As well as allowing learners to develop their language skills, the syllabus fosters an awareness of Chinese culture and history.
- Cambridge Pre-U Mandarin Chinese provides a stepping stone for university courses in Chinese and Chinese Studies, allowing universities to offer successful Cambridge Pre-U candidates alternative courses to the prevailing ab initio classes.

Prior learning

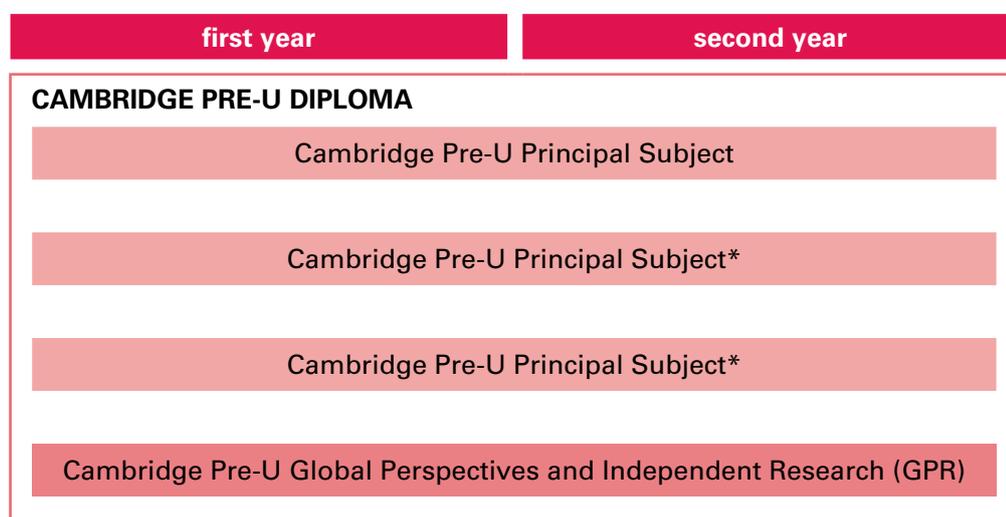

Cambridge Pre-U builds on the knowledge, understanding and skills gained by learners achieving a good pass in Level 1/Level 2 qualifications.

Progression

In addition to providing a secure foundation for study in higher education, Cambridge Pre-U Mandarin Chinese equips learners with a range of skills for careers in business, education and the arts.

Cambridge Pre-U Diploma

If learners choose, they can combine Cambridge Pre-U qualifications to achieve the Cambridge Pre-U Diploma; this comprises three Cambridge Pre-U Principal Subjects* together with Global Perspectives and Independent Research (GPR). The Cambridge Pre-U Diploma, therefore, provides the opportunity for interdisciplinary study informed by an international perspective and includes an independent research project.

* Up to two A Levels, Scottish Advanced Highers or IB Diploma programme courses at higher level can be substituted for Principal Subjects.

Cambridge International Level 3 Pre-U Certificates (Principal Subjects and Global Perspectives Short Course) are qualifications in their own right. Cambridge Pre-U reports achievement on a scale of nine grades: Distinction 1, Distinction 2, Distinction 3, Merit 1, Merit 2, Merit 3, Pass 1, Pass 2 and Pass 3.

Grade descriptions

Grade descriptions are provided to give an indication of the standards of achievement likely to have been shown by candidates awarded particular grades. Weakness in one aspect of the examination may be balanced by a better performance in some other aspect.

The following grade descriptions indicate the level of attainment characteristic of the middle of the given grade band.

Distinction (D2)

Very good level of understanding and/or knowledge, expressed in well argued responses with relevant illustration; high level of accuracy, wide range of vocabulary and complex sentence patterns; a sense of idiom; very good pronunciation and intonation.

Merit (M2)

Good level of understanding and/or knowledge; responses showing some ability to develop argument with appropriate illustration; generally accurate in simple structures but variable success in more complex language; adequate vocabulary and pronunciation.

Pass (P2)

Uneven and/or basic responses showing some level of understanding and/or knowledge, expressed with limited argument and illustration; gaps in grammatical awareness; simple and repetitive sentence patterns and vocabulary; many sounds mispronounced.

Core vocabulary

A list of core vocabulary is available from the School Support Hub (www.cambridgeinternational.org/support). Candidates may expect to encounter unfamiliar vocabulary in the examination, but only items in the list will be tested.

Topic areas

All textual material used in Papers 2 and 3 will be drawn from the topic areas set out below. The main purpose of this list is to provide a manageable content which offers flexibility to teachers in the planning of their courses but places restrictions on the topic areas from which examiners may make their choice of material. These topic areas are intended to help candidates and not limit them, and where the subject matter is the personal choice of candidates, for example the Prepared Topic in the Speaking test (Paper 1), they may choose topics of personal interest even if they lie outside the following list.

- 1 Family
- 2 Young people
- 3 Education
- 4 The media
- 5 Work and leisure
- 6 Equality of opportunity

Prescribed dictionary

Each candidate will be expected to have a Chinese/English dictionary, details as follows, for use during the examination (Papers 2 and 3):

- Pocket Oxford Chinese Dictionary (English–Chinese Chinese–English), ISBN number 978-0198005940.

This is to be provided by the Centre and should not contain any candidate annotation or underlining.

Description of components

Paper 1 Speaking

Speaking test, 12–15 minutes, 60 marks

The Speaking test is conducted and assessed by a visiting examiner, appointed by Cambridge International.

The Cambridge Handbook (UK) contains full instructions on the administration of the Speaking test. The Handbook can be found at www.cambridgeinternational.org/eoguide

Section 1 Prepared topic and topic conversation, 5–7 minutes, 30 marks

- Candidates will research a topic related to the history, current affairs or culture (including art, cinema, literature and traditions) of the Chinese world. They will identify the area of their prepared topic and submit this to Cambridge International two weeks before the Speaking test, on the form provided. In the examination the candidate will be allowed to speak in Mandarin Chinese on this topic for about 2 minutes. The examiner will follow up this initial presentation with questions in Mandarin Chinese on the chosen topic. Candidates will be assessed on the content of their presentation (ability to present relevant facts, express opinions and put forward points for discussion) as well as their linguistic competence (comprehension and responsiveness, fluency, accuracy of tones, pronunciation, range of vocabulary, variety of sentence structures). Candidates may prepare a 'cue card' (not more than postcard size; maximum number of characters/pinyin syllables = 50) in the language to remind them of the main points they wish to make, to bring into the examination room. A script of their presentation is not allowed.

Section 2 General conversation, 6–8 minutes, 15 marks

- This section will begin with straightforward questions about the candidate's background and interests and move quickly on to a more mature conversation covering the topic areas listed on page 11. It is expected that the general conversation section will cover two or three of the topic areas, but it may cover more if the examiner has difficulty finding something the candidate is interested in or can talk about. At least one topic covered will be taken from topic areas 4, 5, and 6. The subject matter covered in the prepared topic will not be covered in the general conversation. Candidates will be assessed on linguistic competence (comprehension and responsiveness, fluency, accuracy of tones, pronunciation, range of vocabulary and variety of sentence structures).

15 marks will be available for the prepared topic, 15 marks for the topic conversation, 15 marks for the general conversation and 15 marks to be awarded globally for pronunciation/intonation and feel for the language.

Dictionaries are not allowed.

Paper 2 Listening, Reading and Translation

Written paper, 2 hours 30 minutes, 60 marks

Section 1 Listening, 30 minutes, 20 marks

- Candidates will have control of their own individual listening equipment.
 - Identification of tones and pinyin: candidates will listen to three recorded words, which they will have to write down using the correct pinyin romanisation and tones. 3 marks
 - Two short pieces in Mandarin Chinese: questions will be objective, using a mixture of English and visuals. 3 marks
 - Two longer pieces (275–300 characters in total): one piece will be tested through comprehension questions in English, which candidates will answer in English; for the other piece, candidates will be expected to provide a gist summary in English using bullet points for guidance. 14 marks

Section 2 Reading, 45 minutes, 18 marks

- Two passages in Chinese will be set, of around 450 characters in total. These will be tested by questions in English. There will be a mixture of objective questions and questions requiring written answers in English. Both passages will be in contemporary vernacular style, using grammatical structures as used in all popular textbooks.

Section 3 Chinese sayings (Chengyu), 15 minutes, 6 marks

- Candidates will be given three Chengyu sayings (from a prescribed list of 25) to identify. A translation and an explanation of the saying in English must be provided by the candidate.

Section 4 Translation, 60 minutes, 16 marks

- Candidates will translate a short passage of vernacular Chinese (not more than 200 characters) into English. The assessment will focus on the transfer of meaning rather than literal correctness.

Each candidate will be expected to have a Chinese/English dictionary, as prescribed by Cambridge International, for use during the examination (see page 12). This will be provided by the Centre and should not contain any candidate annotation or underlining.

Paper 3 Writing and Usage

Written paper, 2 hours, 60 marks

Section 1 Radical and stroke order skills, 5 minutes, and use of grammar markers, aspect markers and measure words, 10 minutes, 10 marks

- Candidates will be asked to identify three characters by their radical. They will be asked to provide the number of strokes in the given characters. They will then be asked to provide the stroke order for the three characters in question.
- Candidates will be expected to complete a cloze test testing grammar markers, aspect markers and measure words.

Section 2 Letter writing, 30 minutes, 20 marks

- Candidates will write a letter of 80–100 characters. The task will be in English but will require candidates to respond to a stimulus in Chinese. The assessment will focus on communication of the required elements, the accuracy of characters, accuracy of grammar and structures, and appropriateness of language. Candidates will be expected to use a formal register to open and close the letter.

Section 3 Opinion essay, 1 hour 15 minutes, 30 marks

- There will be a choice of six titles, one on each of the six topic areas (see page 11). Titles will be provided in English and Chinese. Candidates will write one essay in Chinese with a recommended length of 175–225 characters. This part of the examination will be assessed for accuracy and linguistic range as well as development and organisation of ideas. Candidates should be encouraged to use conjunctions and more complex sentence structure. A colloquial style will be sufficient for top marks.

Each candidate will be expected to have a Chinese/English dictionary, as prescribed by Cambridge International, for use during the examination (see page 12). This will be provided by the Centre and should not contain any candidate annotation or underlining.

Paper 4 Chinese Culture

Written paper, 2 hours 30 minutes, 60 marks

Candidates must choose and prepare one option from Section 1 and one option from Section 2. In the examination, candidates will be required to answer two questions in English, one on each of their chosen options. The recommended length for each answer is 600–750 words. There will be a choice of two questions per option. This part of the examination will assess candidates' knowledge and understanding of their chosen cultural options and ability to use this knowledge to answer a question in a clear and focused manner.

Section 1 Topics in Chinese culture, 30 marks

There will be three options for this section:

- The founding of the People's Republic of China
- Chinese economic trends since 1978
- Emerging China: population, environment and migration

Section 2 Chinese literature and film, 30 marks

There will be three options for this section:

- Fiction – Chronicle of a Blood Merchant, Yu Hua (trans. Andrew Jones, First Anchor Books)
- Fiction – The Song of Everlasting Sorrow: A Novel of Shanghai, Wang Anyi (trans. Michael Berry, Weatherhead Books on Asia)
- Film – The Blue Kite, Tian Zhuangzhuang

Texts in Section 2 are to be read and studied in English.

There is no objection to any of these options being used for the Prepared Topic in the Speaking test (Paper 1).

The number of hours may vary according to curricular practice and the learners' prior experience of the subject.

Total qualification time

This syllabus has been designed assuming that the total qualification time per subject will include both guided learning and independent learning activities.
