

Applying to university with Cambridge International AS Levels and Navitas

Students with Cambridge International AS Levels can take an alternative entry route into the second year of their chosen university through pathway programmes offered by global education providers such as Navitas.

Navitas offer a route to university which combines an initial one-year Cambridge International AS Level course, followed by three years of study at one of Navitas's 18 partner universities in Australia, Canada, New Zealand, the UK and the US. All Navitas partner universities are well respected and fully accredited independent universities. They offer a wide range of undergraduate degree programmes specially tailored for Navitas students, including Arts, Business, Commerce, Computer Science, Education, Engineering, Health and Life Sciences, Information Technology, Law, Media and Medical Science.

These degree courses consist of a Year One transition programme delivered jointly by Navitas and the university, which includes language and study skills training, followed by two more years at the university. Cambridge International is working with Navitas to offer a route to university which combines a one-year Cambridge International AS Level course, typically at a Cambridge school in the student's own country, followed by three years of study at a Navitas partner university.

Subject choice

Cambridge International offers a choice of over 55 AS Level subjects, with no restrictions on subject combination.

University admissions and the application process

Students can apply for a Navitas pathway course at any time during their Cambridge IGCSE™ or Cambridge International AS Level studies. Students choose their degree course when studying for their Cambridge International AS Levels. They can immediately receive conditional offers from up to three Navitas partner universities of their choice. If they meet the required AS Level grades, students are guaranteed a place at one of their university options. Navitas will also help students complete any visa applications required to study overseas.

Students have a choice of start dates for the Navitas Year One programme, which typically has three intakes per year. This provides great flexibility and allows students to start their university studies as soon as possible after completing their Cambridge International AS Levels.
