Section A: Poetry

Answer one question from this section.

From Songs of Ourselves, Volume 1

Either 1 Explore the ways in which Cheng makes Report to Wordsworth such a disturbing poem.

Support your ideas with details from the text.

Report to Wordsworth

You should be here, Nature has need of you. She has been laid waste. Smothered by the smog, the flowers are mute, and the birds are few in a sky slowing like a dying clock. All hopes of Proteus rising from the sea 5 have sunk; he is entombed in the waste we dump. Triton's notes struggle to be free, his famous horns are choked, his eyes are dazed, and Neptune lies helpless as a beached whale, while insatiate man moves in for the kill. 10 Poetry and piety have begun to fail, as Nature's mighty heart is lying still. O see the wound widening in the sky, God is labouring to utter his last cry.

(Boey Kim Cheng)

Or 2 How does the speaker strikingly compare his lover to summer in Sonnet 18?

Support your ideas with details from the text.

Sonnet 18

Shall I compare thee to a summer's day? Thou art more lovely and more temperate: Rough winds do shake the darling buds of May, And summer's lease hath all too short a date; Sometime too hot the eye of heaven shines 5 And often is his gold complexion dimmed; And every fair from fair sometime declines, By chance, or nature's changing course, untrimmed. But thy eternal summer shall not fade, Nor lose possession of that fair thou ow'st; 10 Nor shall death brag thou wander'st in his shade, When in eternal lines to time thou grow'st: So long as men can breathe, or eyes can see, So long lives this, and this gives life to thee.

(William Shakespeare)

From Songs of Ourselves, Volume 3

Either 3 Explore how Chudleigh powerfully presents the speaker's views about marriage in To the Ladies.

Support your ideas with details from the text.

To the Ladies

Wife and servant are the same, But only differ in the name: For when that fatal knot is tied, Which nothing, nothing can divide: When she the word obey has said, 5 And man by law supreme has made, Then all that's kind is laid aside, And nothing left but state and pride: Fierce as an Eastern prince he grows, And all his innate rigour shows: 10 Then but to look, to laugh, or speak, Will the nuptial contract break. Like mutes she signs alone must make, And never any freedom take: But still be governed by a nod, 15 And fear her husband as a God: Him still must serve, him still obey, And nothing act, and nothing say, But what her haughty lord thinks fit, Who with the power, has all the wit. 20 Then shun, oh! shun that wretched state. And all the fawning flatt'rers hate: Value your selves, and men despise, You must be proud, if you'll be wise.

(Mary Chudleigh)

Or How does Murray movingly convey the speaker's sense of loss in The Widower in the Country?

Kayo Chingonyi: Kumukanda

Either 5 In what ways does Chingonyi memorably present his thoughts and feelings in Baltic Mill?

Support your ideas with details from the text.

Baltic Mill

Though you maintain the elements have conspired against us we still inch the cobbled street past Castle Keep down to the Quayside's rainslick paving slabs all for the thrill of standing across from Baltic Mill in a turbid mist lifted from the Tyne.

5

We planned to catch a talk at the Laing or the Biscuit but, pushed for time, plumped for a backstreet pizzeria, throwback to another world, a haberdasher's maybe or greasy spoon for blackface minstrels from Gateshead mines and iron works. The North Sea wind-chill bids us leave behind this city of faces cast in stories passed down, vestige of years when hundreds of miles stood between us. The exact course that brought us here is unimportant. It is that we met like this river, drawn from two sources, offered up our flaws, our sedimental selves.

10

Or 6 How does Chingonyi use words and images to vivid effect in Waves?

Support your ideas with details from the text.

Waves

The year waves came in, when we sang you're sweet like chocolate, boy without shame, everyone had a method for taming even the most rebellious head of pepper grains into slick, crazy-paved, deference to R&B stars looming large from hoardings, pasted into diaries and exercise books, their lyrics written out on the backs of hands. We wanted to be wanted like that, so we slept with our mothers' head wraps tight, to keep the facade in place. Some taught themselves 10 the grace of clippers, so they could tidy up their edges in the bathroom mirror, others sought the counsel of barbers, technicians of the razor blade who could elevate a trim to a thing of head-turning, transcendent beauty.

But for all we tried to hide our stubble, ashamed of the hair's natural grain, it came back unbidden as if each follicle knew that soon we would covet shaved lines in sideburns, eyebrows, anything to set ourselves apart, betray our roots.
