Exercise 4 Spreading Literacy in Laos

Note: correct responses only apply if they are placed under the correct heading (as detailed below). Add the correct answers to give a total out of 7.

Remember that this exercise is marked for content (reading), not language.

Reasons for illiteracy in rural Laos (max 2 marks for this heading)

- few authors (in Lao language)
- books expensive / hard to obtain
- difficulty to get books into people's hands / villages (isolated) / villages only reached by boat
- no libraries (in villages) / children rarely have a chance to own a book / children rarely have a chance to hold a book

Anna Dahl's fundraising efforts (max 2 marks for this heading)

- charity "River Books"
- (sponsored 500 km) bike ride across Laos
- sail along Thames in small boat
- London Marathon (next year)

Disadvantages of illiteracy (max 3 marks for this heading)

- cannot read (school) textbooks
- unable to read signs / notices / instructions
- unable to write own name / fill in forms
- unable to send emails / text messages

[Total: 7]

Exercise 5 Literacy in Laos summaryLanguage (up to 5 marks)

- 5 marks: good, concise summary style / very good attempt to use own words and to organise and sequence points cohesively
- 4 marks: good attempt to use own words and to organise and sequence points cohesively / generally good control of language
- 3 marks: some reliance on language from the text, but with an attempt to organise and sequence points cohesively / language satisfactory, but with some inaccuracies
- 2 marks: heavy reliance on language from the text with no attempt to organise and sequence points cohesively / limited language expression making meaning at times unclear
- 1 mark: copying without discrimination from text / multiple language inaccuracies
- 0 marks: no understanding of the task / no relevant content / meaning completely obscure due to serious language inaccuracies

[Total: 5]

Exercise 6 End-of-term performance

Exercise 7 Local food

The following general instructions, and table of marking criteria, apply to both exercises.

- Content covers relevance (i.e. whether the piece fulfils the task and the awareness of purpose / audience / register) and the development of ideas (i.e. the detail / explanation provided and how enjoyable it is to read).
- Language covers style (i.e. complexity of vocabulary and sentence structure) and accuracy (of grammar, spelling, punctuation and use of paragraphs).
- When deciding on a mark for content or language, first of all decide which mark band is most appropriate. There will not necessarily be an exact fit. Then decide between 2 marks within that mark band. Use the lower mark if it only just makes it into the band and the upper mark if it fulfils all the requirements of the band but doesn't quite make it into the band above.
- When deciding on a mark for content, look at both relevance and development of ideas. First ask yourself whether the writing fulfils the task, in terms of points to be covered and the length. If it does, it will be in at least the 4–5 mark band.
- When deciding on a mark for language, look at both the style and the accuracy of the language. A useful starting point would be first to determine whether errors intrude. If they do not, it will be in at least the 4–5 mark band.
- The use of paragraphs should not be the primary basis of deciding which mark band the work is in. Look first at the language used and once you have decided on the appropriate mark band, you can use the paragraphing as a factor in helping you to decide whether the work warrants the upper or lower mark in the mark band.
- If the essay is considerably shorter than the stated word length, it is unlikely to gain a high mark for content.
- If the essay is totally irrelevant and has nothing to do with the question asked, it should be given 0 marks for Content and Language, even if it is enjoyable to read and fluent.
- If the essay is partly relevant and therefore in mark band 2–3, the full range of marks for language is available.
